

A red and black Titan 440 electric airless sprayer is the central focus. It has a black handle, a control panel with a pressure gauge and an ON/OFF switch, and a white spray gun attached. The number '440' is printed in large blue letters on the red side. The background is a blurred image of a person in a white protective suit using a spray gun.

POWRTEX™ 1200SF

Electric Piston Airless Texture and Paint Sprayer

- Lightest, affordable airless texture sprayer on the market today
- Designed for ready-mix and powdered texture products.
- Sprays skim coat, level 5 finish; drywall mud in an orange peel, splatter or knockdown finish, and all architectural primers and finish-quality paints
- Heavy-duty bypass valve and submersed inlet fluid section uses ceramic balls for smooth, uninterrupted application of joint compound and other abrasive heavy bodied coatings
- Exclusive fluid section design eliminates the need for wearable cylinder
- Full variable-speed pressure control eliminates pressure fluctuations at any pressure setting
- Automatic speed adjustment adapts to the tip size allowing the pump to run slower – downtime and repair costs are minimized and packing life is increased three times longer
- Comes complete with full-size manifold filter for airless paint spraying

Recommended for steady use by painting, drywall, and texture contractors who apply paint and non-aggregate finishes.
